a Two-Day Training Workshop

on

Shake Table Testing

September 16th and 17th, 2010

Hosted by

University of California, San Diego

This workshop is designed for researchers and industry members of the earthquake engineering community as prospective users of the three NEES Shake Table Sites. The workshop is scheduled to include lectures, tours, lab activities and demonstrations, and hands-on problem solving/application exercises to provide the attendees with the knowledge necessary to plan and execute successful shake table projects

We expect this workshop to be filled to capacity, so reserve your seat today. Registration will close on September 10, or when all spots are filled
